Day 02: Golf at Bukit Darmo

After breakfast transfer to Bukit Darmo Golf for 18 holes of golf.

ABOUT THE COURSE:

Bukit Darmo is designed by Jack Nicklaus II, the son of golfing legend Jack. It was his first assignment outside of his native country and his first in Asia for that matter. The course is relatively flat and plays to a par 72. From the blue tees the course is a stern test for middle and higher handicappers, while the friendly white and red tees make playing this course challenging and fun. When the wind is up, the course is not a walkover.

The 500 meter (blue tee) par 5 hole #7 is rated as the most difficult hole on the course, while the finishing hole, the 383 meter par 4 is rated as the second most difficult hole. The course is open and not too long. It provides enough challenge for players of all levels of skill.

Bukit Darmo is conveniently located just 10 minutes from Surabaya's city center and in the Surabaya golf triangle with Ciputra Golf and Graha Famili just a short wedge shot away.

The majestic clubhouse offers spacious locker rooms, a fully stocked pro shop, a golfer's terrace restaurant with view on the course, function rooms, seminar rooms, while a driving range enables you to warm up properly before walking this neat course.

ABOUT THE COURSE:

Ciputra Golf boasts 3 nine holes championship courses that are situated in the very heart of the self contained mini city of Citra Raya.

Ciputra Golf covers 125 hectares of beautifully sculpted fairways and greens and is designed to be the venue for regional and international tournaments.

Designed by Andy Dye, the three layouts can be played in a "mix & match" format. Ease of play makes the most popular combination that of the first nine, the Valley course, with the second nine, the Lake course.

The Hill course certainly is the "toughest" nine, and the typical "Dye" features are clearly evident on every hole; undulating fairways and greens, gaping and deep fairway bunkers and many unfriendly hazards that require carry. Ciputra Golf & Country Club, on the whole, provides almost enjoyable experience. The 27 holes of golf are a fair test for players of all levels. The course maintenance is very good and the greens are outstanding. Night golf is available, as well as an aquatic driving range, swimming pools, tennis & squash courts, fitness & aerobic, karaoke, billiard, a library and a kids club.
